BURBANK SEEKS TO END LIFE AS WILL CONTEST IS BEGUN

Samuel M. Burbank, Nephew of Aged and Eccentric Millionaire, Stabs himself in the Private Office of Lawyer Lewis L. Delafield.

GASHED THROAT WITH KNIFE, BUT WILL PROBABLY LIVE.

His Brother Caleb Chief Beneficiary of $2,000,000 Estate Under Will Filed, but Relatives Allege Another Existed and Fight for Control.

Samuel M. Burbank, involved with his brother, Caleb A. Burbank, in the contest of the will of their late uncle, Ambrose B. Burbank, attempted to kill himself to-day in the law offices of Hawkins, Delafield & Sturgis, counsel for his brother as executor of the estate, by cutting his throat with a pocket-knife.

Other relatives of the aged millionaire had started a contest of the will, retaining Attorney James W. Osborne and the law firm of Ewing & Ewing. Mr. Osborne said, after hearing of Burbank's attempt to take his life:

"It is too bad. I presume he was so worried he preferred death to the exposures which we were about to make. He was the old man's constant and only companion until his death a year ago. He was his only nurse day and night. It was said that the old man was afraid of every one else and would only take medicine from Samuel."

"The will under which Samuel Burbank was left $25,000 and his brother was made executor and residuary legatee, thus receiving the great bulk of the estate, was dated in 1889. The contestants have good reason to believe that Ambrose Burbank made another will and that Samuel Burbank had knowledge of the second will, which did not make his brother residuary legatee. We had Samuel Burbank a few days ago in our office and he was about to make an affidavit which would have told of the disappearance of the second will, but at the last minute he backed out. Since then he has been very nervous and has been closely watched. Sensational features may now be developed in the case."

CALLED THERE AT NOON.

Burbank called at the law offices about noon and went into the private office of Lewis L. Delafield. Mr. Delafield was not in and Burbank waited for him.

He was alone in the office when a young woman stenographer passed the partly opened door in time to see him fall from the chair to the floor at the same time he threw a knife across the room.

On seeing the blood spurt from Burbank's throat the young woman screamed and then fainted. Mr. Hawkins, of the firm, with a number of clerks, rushed into Mr. Delafield's office and found Burbank with a huge wound on the side of his neck.

Dr. Sweeney, of the Equitable Building, was called in, and he notified Policeman Diehl and Detective Funston. They called an ambulance from the Hudson Street Hospital and Burbank was rolled in a blanket and carried to the elevator of the building. Business was suspended for a time in the big office structure while the tenants watched the injured man being carried down to the ambulance. The young woman who fainted was attended by Dr. Sweeney.

DELAFIELD WOULD NOT TALK.

Mr. Delafield, on his arrival, made a statement to the officers, but they refused to make it public, saying that Mr. Delafield did not wish it published and that it was none of the public's business. Mr. Delafield would only say to the reporters that it was nobody's business if Mr. Burbank wished to kill himself in his office.

All that Mr. Hawkins could say was that the incident was shocking and to be regretted. At the Hudson Street Hospital it was said by the doctors that Burbank had missed the windpipe by a narrow margin, and that while he had lost much blood he would probably recover.

The case in the Surrogate's Court to-day was the petition of the contestants to cause a search for the second will, which is believed to have been made not long before Ambrose Burbank's death. A similar motion was made before Surrogate Thomas a week ago and was denied. The second motion came up to-day before Surrogate Fitzgerald, and each side submitted briefs and affidavits, and decision was reserved. The contest of the will of 1889 to keep it from being probated comes up for trial next Monday.

Attorney Osborne had informed Samuel Burbank that as he was the only companion of the dying millionaire in his last hours he would be asked to tell all he knew about his uncle, his final disposition of his estate and the scenes immediately antedating the death.

DETECTIVES ON THE CASE.

The contestants had employed a number of detectives who had been working on the case, and counsel for the contestants say that when Samuel Burbank was confronted with these reports he at first consented to make a sweeping affidavit and then backed down.

Burbank was transferred from the Hudson Street Hospital to Bellevue this afternoon. He is held a prisoner and may be arraigned in court in a week.

After being taken to Bellevue Hospital Burbank said his lawyer was Eugene Hawkins, of Hawkins, Delafield & Sturgis, of No. 1 Nassau street, where he attempted to cut his throat. He said he had been drinking and was nervous all week, when he went this morning to see Mr. Hawkins and HERMIS, TO-DAY'S BROOKDALE WINNER.HERMIS'S GOOD RACE.

Hermis won the Brookdale Handicap this afternoon almost in record time, coming home under a double wrap. It was the Thomas horse's public work-out for the Suburban Handicap, to be run Thursday, and it won him many backers for the big event. His time today for the mile and one-eighth was 1:52 4-5, and he was never extended.

WASHINGTON PARK, BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 14.—The Cincinnati defeated the Brooklyn here this afternoon by a score of 5 to 1. Both Poole and Kellum pitched good ball. The teams will play twice to-morrow.

First Inning.
Huggins drove a grounder to Jacklitch and perished at first. Donlin was fooled by Poole's curves. Capt. Kelly walked, but was forced at second on Seymour's hot grounder, which Jacklitch grabbed and tossed to Babb. Sheekard was retired on his slow grounder by Kelly, unassisted. Lumley was the second out on his little roller, which Kellum and Kelly took care of. Dillon then laced the ball to center for a base and moved up to second when Jacklitch was hit on the shoulder by a pitched ball. Babb was called out on strikes. NO RUNS.

Second Inning.
Poole pulled down Dolan's high jumper and threw him out. Corcoran struck out. Huggins' grounder to Poole resulted in a double play. Ritter was called out on strikes. NO RUNS.

Third Inning.
Pietz singled to left. Kellum was hit by a pitched ball, promoting Pietz to second. Huggins' grounder to Poole resulted in a double play. Ritter was called out on strikes. NO RUNS.

Fourth Inning.
Kellum's slow grounder was fielded to Dillon by Babb in time to retire the Red's captain. Seymour sent a fly to Sheekard. Dillon walked, and went to second on Jacklitch's error of Corcoran's grounder. Woodruff fanned out. NO RUNS.

Fifth Inning.
Pietz went out. Babb to Dillon. Kellum's infield fly was collared by McCormick. Huggins drew a free pass to first, but was forced at second on Corcoran, who shot the ball to Kelly in time to retire the Dodgers' twirler. NO RUNS.

Sixth Inning.
Kelly's high foul fly dropped into Ritter's big mitt. Seymour was a victim on strikes. Dolan walked. Corcoran fanned out to McCormick. NO RUNS.

POLO GROUNDS. June 14.—The Giants found the Cardinals from the mound City the easiest kind of a cold weather proposition, even with the old reliable "Kid" Nichols pitching for them, and as the Boston beat the Chicago McGraw's men are back in first place to-night. The score at the close of to-day's game upon the Polo Grounds was 6 to 1 in the Giants' favor. Luther Taylor pitched a fine game and the local boys showed an improvement in their batting.

First Inning.
Shay grounded to Gilbert and died at first. Shannon worked Taylor for a pass. Dahlen took Brain's fast grounder in time to throw Taylor out at first. Taylor threw out Shay. NO RUNS.

Second Inning.
Brennahan walked. Browne bunted, with sacrificing intent, but Nichols tried to catch Brennahan at second, and as Shay muffed his assist both runners were safe. Devlin singled, filling the cushions. McGann singled just out of Shay's reach and Brennahan and Browne scored. Mertes sacrificed. Nichols throwing him out. Dahlen hit to Nichols and Devlin was retired at first. Devlin threw out Gilbert. TWO RUNS.

Third Inning.
Beckley was easy on his grounder to Gilbert. Smoot drove over Smoot's head for half the circuit. Dahlen's assist closed Barclay's career at first. Devlin threw out Burke. NO RUNS.

Fourth Inning.
Zearfoss's hot grounder took a bound away from Dahlen, yielding a base. Nichols succumbed to Taylor's swift drop. Umpire Johnstone removed a visitor in citizen's clothes from the St. Louis bench for making too much noise. Mertes was retired on strikes. Dahlen was also victimized by Nichols's flames. NO RUNS.

Fifth Inning.
Dahlen took Brain's pop fly. Taylor's next assist retired Beckley at first. NO RUNS.

HERMIS'S BROOKDALE GOOD PUBLIC TRIAL FOR THE SUBURBAN

In Feature Event at Gravesend To-Day, Thomas Horse Runs Mile and a Furlong Close to the Record and Is Never Extended.

AFRICANDER AND EUGENIA BURCH ARE BEATEN.

Fifteen Thousand See Good Sport To-Day at the Brooklyn Track—Reliable Takes Another Race—Tongorder, at 15 to 1, Upset Calculations in Third.

Nearly 15,000 people were attracted to Gravesend this afternoon to see the running of the Brookdale Handicap, a mile and a furlong. This race brought about a meeting between Hermis, Africander and Eugenia Burch, all of whom are Suburban Handicap favorites. Hermis was a 3 to 5 favorite, in spite of his last race, which was very bad. That race, however, was in some way to his disadvantage, and it was generally expected that he would win today. And that is precisely what he did. Without being extended at any point of the route he galloped a mile and a furlong in 1:52 4-5, which is within four-fifths of a second of the record.

Dainty and Africander laid in behind Hermis to the far turn, where Africander was down to a flin. Dainty then came home, but who was never able to make Hermis extend himself. Africander and Eugenia Burch were badly beaten, which should dispose of their Suburban aspirations.

If the track is dry on Suburban day Hermis will be in running along for the first part, if he does not win. Reliable packed his usual "ton of coal" and won the opening handicap, beating Africander, a war of attrition, won the second. In the third, however, Tongorder, at 15 to 1 chance, upset all calculations and beat Right Royal, the favorite. The weather was cool and pleasant and the track fast.

Good Price Against Reliable.
The fact that J. Boland had the mount on Reliable made the bookies at odds on him as good as 2 to 1 against him. Boland in a good post ride, and breaking Reliable away in front, he made all the running and won handsily by three lengths. In the fourth, however, Tongorder, at 15 to 1 chance, upset all calculations and beat Right Royal, the favorite. The weather was cool and pleasant and the track fast.

Favorite Gets the Second.
Dahlen, 2, the favorite in the second race, with Lady Potentate a strong second choice. Seymour opened at a short price, but went back in the third, not being fancied. Dekater, Seymour and Hydrangea went to the front and raced head and head to the far turn, where Seymour was alone. Hydrangea and Dekater then raced head and head to the stretch, where Dekater drew away and won easily by two lengths from Seymour, who came in second.

Knights of Pearl Wins Sixth.
Diamond Flush mixed away in front in the sixth race, led to the stretch, where Connelly joined him. In the run home Connelly outdistanced Dick Bernard and won by a head. Possession was third, three lengths back.
